Pastor Retires at West Church

Rev. Newman Matthews Has Served 24 Years—Dean of Local Clergy

Rev. Newman Matthews, for 24 years pastor of the West church, announced his retirement at the services last Sunday. He will remain in active service until the church committee is able to choose a successor. He and Mrs. Matthews will continue to reside in Andover, in a new home that is now being built.

Rev. Mr. Matthews came here on July 1, 1913, and served as acting pastor until May 1, 1914, when he was made permanent pastor. He had been at a pastorate in St. Petersburg, Florida, but because of poor health which found Florida's climate not easy to live in, he came to Lawrence where Mrs. Matthews' family lived. When the previous West Parish pastor had to be granted a leave of absence because of poor health, Rev. Mr. Matthews was called to fill in. His 24 years' service is a little longer than any previous pastorate.

During the Rev. Mr. Matthews' service in the parish, much has been accomplished in a material and in a spiritual way. A new vestry has been built, and paid for. A new organ has been given the church, and the auditorium has been entirely redecorated, with new lighting being installed and new pulpit furniture added. Recently the young people of the church have been organized into a choir, and all the other organizations of the church have remained very active and keenly interested in the welfare of the church under Mr. Matthews' leadership.

Rev. Mr. Matthews was 69 last December, and until he finally leaves the pulpit he will remain the dean of Andover's active clergymen.

Rev. Mr. Matthews, after having studied at Phillips academy, Harvard and

Fire-truck in the 1912 Horribles

Twenty-five years ago the new fire truck was the object of much attention, and on the Fourth of July the above wagon in the Horribles Parade testified to the interest in the truck. Standing in front is John McDonald, and on the contraption are Ralph Coleman, Roy Gibbons, John Lewis (in a sit-down by the boiler), Phil Leslie and Billy Barber.

Playgrounds Open for 1937 Season

The Andover playground system opened yesterday for its tenth season, with the Shawsheen and Ballardvale playgrounds launching their second year. Registration and a few games have been in order this week, since the heavy apparatus will not be erected until Tuesday. The heavy attendance is not expected until next week.

Tonight there will be couple races on all three playgrounds as a first week novelty. The regular schedule of special activities will not begin until next week. It has not yet been definitely decided what the special activity for next week will be, although the possibility is that there will be a soap-bubble contest.

Howard A. Coon, appointed art instructor, has gone to Maine this year and will not be available for playground work.

The playground registration yesterday totalled 355, split up as follows:

Central: Registration, 180; afternoon attendance 135, evening 90.

Shawsheen: Registration, 95; afternoon attendance 75, evening 50.

Ballardvale: Registration, 80; afternoon attendance 56, evening 55.

Social Security Office Closed

The local social security office at the post office building was closed on Wednesday on orders from Washington which centralized Lawrence and Andover business at the Lowell post office.

In the six months' operation of the local office, about 5300 social security applications were filled out.

Andover Residents Injured in Crash

Four Andover residents were injured last night in a collision on Hillside road, North Andover. They were Angus Gallant, 51, of South Main street, lacerations on the head; Mrs. James Gallant, abrasions of the face; her daughter, Betty Louise, laceration and abrasions of the head and possible internal injuries; Mary Gallant, lacerations of the scalp.

Mr. Gallant was driver of one of the cars. To avoid hitting the two cars which had collided another car went off the road, struck a hydrant and a post.

Mr. Gallant was taken to the hospital, and the others were treated at a doctor's office.

LIBRARY NOTE

The number of books issued at the Memorial Hall Library during June was 5903. At Ballardvale, 600 were borrowed, making a total circulation of 6503 volumes during the month.

Vale to Mark Fourth of July

Bonfire at Midnight Sunday to Start Festivities—Hor-ribles, Sports, Monday

Sunday midnight will start the Ballardvale Fourth of July celebration when the huge bonfire that is being built will be ignited on the John Pike land just off Andover street. The fire is being built of mostly railroad ties and are being hauled from the B. & M. siding. Lester Abbott with Ralph Greenwood as assistant is in charge.

The Horribles parade is expected to get away to an early start at 8 a.m. Monday and the line of march will be Chester street, Clark road, Center street, Tewksbury street, then up Andover street to the ball field where prizes will be awarded to the "most horrible," "antique" and "local hit," with both a junior and senior division sharing in prize money.

At 9:30 a baseball game will be staged on the local diamond with the Ballardvale Y.M.A.C. meeting another local team: the "Flanagan All-Stars." Much rivalry is expected in this encounter as much time has been spent in selecting a team to compete against the local nine which is rated very highly in sporting circles.

Following the ball game a vehicle and carriage parade will take place and the next in order will be land sports to be followed by water sports at the Shawsheen river.

B. Haggerty will be in charge of the horribles and James Bisset will direct the ball game with Fred Kidd, chairman of sports, assisted by Alfred Webb and Frank Serio.

Chats About You and Us and the
Other Folks Here in Andover

Cook vs. Smoker

Passing by the five-and-ten on Main street last Tuesday noon we were given a real example of how America's womanhood has changed in the last few years. In the window were some of those glass orange juicers, the kind with the little reamer in the middle on which you press down the orange. In front of the window were three girls, and one of them said: "Oh, aren't those nice ash-trays?"

Smithy's Nemesis

We've been thoroughly disillusioned about a young friend of ours. He might have touched our belt if he reached up hard enough, but when we first met him, he was a habitue of the blacksmith shop at the corner of Bartlet and Park streets. Every Saturday morning he'd appear at the shop door with a huge rubber iceman's apron on ready to do a hard day's work at the anvil, or getting under the blacksmith's feet, and we were mighty proud to know such a fine strong young man.

But one day last week we saw him running like mad, and what was he running from? Just a girl!

Couple Observe Silver Wedding

A surprise party by members of the A.P.C. sorority of the South church Saturday night and all-day festivities Sunday marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. J. Albion Burt of 72 Chestnut street last week-end.

On Saturday evening the A.P.C. group descended on the house and gave the couple a fitting testimonial. On Sunday friends and relatives from Springfield, New York and Boston visited the couple. In the morning there was a party, in the afternoon a picnic near Canobie Lake and in the evening a dinner at home.

Twenty-five years ago the couple were married at Springfield college on June 26, the then bride's mother being connected with the college. Mrs. Burt was then Miss Carolyn A. Rey, French teacher in the Stamford, Conn., high school. Mr. Burt was for thirty years connected with the post office department, being the first superintendent of the Shawsheen sub-station. He retired in 1935.

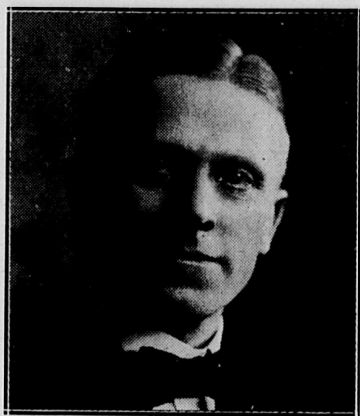

There is one daughter, Miss Elaine Burt, who is now in the Daniel Starch church there and the strain of this with the climate forced him to come north again.

Rev. and Mrs. Matthews have a son, Medwin, who graduated from Phillips academy in 1918, and who is now in New York.

The announcement by Rev. Mr. Matthews makes the third change in the local ministry this year, Rev. Alfred C. Church having died and Rev. Charles W. Henry resigned.

Miss Anna W. Kuhn and Mrs. Augustus Thompson poured.

Two Injured in Shawsheen Crash

A head-on collision in Shawsheen square last Friday afternoon caused injuries to two riders. Miss Florence Tufts of Somerville, a passenger in the car of Dr. John E. Gillis of Somerville, sustained a head injury, and Frank Niziak of Lawrence, the other driver, received a cut on the lip.

Dr. Gillis, according to the report made at the police station, was travelling toward Lawrence, and Niziak coming from Lawrence, was attempting to make a left turn into Haverhill street.

Present Labor Trouble Has Gone Beyond the Power of Shakespeare to Remedy

The Fourth of July marks the birth of a Nation which was founded on a principle of strict observance of the rights of each and every one in that Nation. The Fourth of July is also the birthday of a man who as Governor of this Commonwealth gained national fame and later the Presidency because in 1920 he called out the national guard in the Boston police strike, on the grounds that the public interest comes first, above that of any individual or group of individuals.

Today we need in our public officials some of that courage and true public-spiritedness that made Calvin Coolidge call a dramatic halt to a "strike against the public." Today those in whose hands has been reposed the enforcement of the law are going about with their eyes closed to serious infractions of the law, of the right of one person to do what he wants to do as long as it does not infringe upon the rights of someone else. The President, governors, local officials all seem to have sacrificed strict enforcement of the law to political expediency.

These officials must realize that they are serving not capital, not any one of labor's warring groups, but the whole public. Preserving the peace, preserving law and order, preserving the public's right to go about its business without being molested, preserving the worker's right to join a union or not to join a union as he sees fit, preserving the worker's right to work or to stop working if he sees fit, avoiding any violence of any sort—those are the principles that our present officials should bear in mind when they summon up enough courage to tackle this country's civil war.

A half a year of strife has just ended. Over fifty persons have been killed, hundreds injured. In the recent steel strike alone thirteen have been killed. Workers who want to work, to support their families, have lost their wages for weeks at a time; in the automotive strike last winter alone workers lost more than $50,000,000 in pay. There has been millions of dollars worth of property damage; railroad lines, water works, homes have been dynamited in a ruthless anarchistic warfare condoned by public officials.

And what has Washington done about it? Two things: (1) The President's Madame Secretary of Labor suggested to Ohio's Governor Davey that he subpoena steel king Girdler and keep him in Cleveland until he signed a CIO contract, a request which outraged the Governor, much to his credit; (2) as the steel strife became worse and worse, the President finally gave up his policy of indifference, and with water supplies being cut off by bombs, workers being killed, he, with a noble regard for his public duty, was stirred into quoting Shakespeare: "a plague on both your houses."

Since England passed its Labor Disputes Act of 1927, that country has been notably free of industrial strife and the workers under peaceful, non-racketeering unions have made far greater gains than they did when the laborers over there engaged in the same kind of internecine warfare now being waged here. Briefly that act allowed strikes within an industry for the purposes of securing higher wages, better hours, better working conditions, and eliminated strikes whose object is either a general or sympathetic strike or to force the government to take a political action, "or if it inflicts hardship on the community." No union member can be deprived of union benefits if he refuses to strike, this serving to eliminate strikes called by leaders without the workers' assent. There must be no disturbance and intimidation in picketing; mass picketing is forbidden, "shouting-picketing" is impossible; picketing exists only to notify the worker and consumer that a strike is in progress. Union members do not have their union dues deducted from their pay envelope every week as in America's "check-off." Unions are all incorporated and so are responsible for all their actions. Full accounts of expenditures must be filed with the government, and are available to union members.

In 1926 the British people rose in anger and in 1927 the Parliament passed the law which has been successful in eliminating the usurped powers and rights which this country's unions are claiming outside the law. There are nearly 600 legislators down in Washington; isn't there someone among them with courage enough to face the most serious problem that Democracy has faced in this country for years?

More Bike Accidents

Last Saturday afternoon Chief of Police George A. Dane was walking along the east side of Main street in the business section when two boys raced along the sidewalk on bicycles. Not so far off was an elderly lady who, had she been struck by one of the bicycles, probably would have been seriously injured. The chief stopped the boys and said: "You shouldn't be riding on the sidewalk.

These walks were made for people to walk on, not for bicycles"

One of the boys answered: "My father told me not to ride on the road."

A half an hour later on the west side of Main street, still in the business section, a young lady was struck by a bicycle and knocked down. The result for her was a concussion of the brain, doctor's bills, loss of income during her recovery.

Bicycle-riding on the sidewalk must stop; last year there was another serious accident from the same cause. Parents whose children have bicycles should tell them not to ride on the sidewalks. True, riding on the road may also be dangerous, but parents should make certain that the youngsters stay off the busy streets in town. There is no reason why any youngster should have to come down to the business section on a bike, but Main street every day looks as if there were a bicycle convention going on. Keep them away from the places where the traffic, motoring or pedestrian, is heavy; there are plenty of other places to ride in Andover.

Last Saturday the boy who ran into the young lady went off without making himself known, but fortunately police were able later to find out who he was. This is one more reason why the legislature should make licensing of bicycles a requirement of law; certainly we don't want to develop a group of boys who think they can get away with hit-and-run bicycling. If no bicycle could appear on the road without a number plate, procured at a nominal fee, careless riding would be in great part eliminated, for the youngster would realize that if he did run into someone, or did create a hazard on the road, his license to ride would be revoked.

The chances are that England will not be as excited about our President's son's wedding as the United States was about England's Queen Mother's son's marriage.

One of the differences between a piano and a typewriter is that when you strike the wrong key on a piano you can't back-space and xxxx it.

Department Heads Named at Phillips

George F. French has been appointed head of the department of French at Phillips academy to succeed Charles Emerson Stone, retired, and Dr. Arthur B. Darling has been named head of the Department of History to succeed Archibald Freeman, also retired.

Roscoe E. Dake will teach chemistry next year, filling the position occupied until his retirement by James C. Graham.

Bartram Kelley, formerly of the Choate school, has been named instructor in mathematics.

Where Some of Andover's Youngsters Spend Their Spare Time

One of the busiest places in Andover is the Junior library section of the Memorial Hall library. The above pictures were taken on a Saturday morning at 10.15, when youngsters traditionally forget books, but the Junior library has so many different fascinations for them that they congregate there in large numbers.

All of the above children have won state reading certificates for reading from five to twenty books this year. At the desk, upper left, are Christine Duke, Ruth Innes and

Dear Editor:

May I take the opportunity to further the question raised by "Ole Hundred" in last week's issue of the Townsman on why people do not speak out against a certain town, state, or national injustice. To be sure, he has "hit the nail on the head" as regards the cause of the conditions prevalent everywhere. People are not interested, or are interested but lack courage.

Human beings the world over seem to have become content to let someone else do their thinking and their speaking for them, hence the increasing number of nations abroad under dictatorial reign, and the steady rise of "one man" rule here in America. If it were not for the independence of the Supreme Court of the United States which more than a thousand times has protected the rights of states and of individuals, Americans would have silently relinquished their liberty some time ago.

Recently, I carried a petition around the town pertaining to vital legislation before Congress. A number of people dare not sign it "lest they lose their jobs."

Afraid of losing a job because they stood up and told their Representatives how they wanted their servants at Washington to vote on certain legislation.

What liberty is this with silence at any price?

Every citizen of this town, state, and nation has freedom of speech and under the "Bill of Rights" of the American Constitution, "the privilege of petitioning his government for a redress of grievances." Yet how many citizens for the welfare of their country exercised this right at least once during the last six years?

Where were the people who protested the destruction of food crops in the West, carried out at the expense of our Eastern manufacturers through the A.A.A. processing tax?

Was any protest registered at Washington, D. C., to check the attempt of France to circumvent the Johnson Act to float a rearmament loan here—the quintessence of brazenness?

Why again did the taxpayers not protest emphatically to Senator David I. Walsh of the Senate Naval committee against the continuance of spending our people's hard-earned money for useless warships in place of worthwhile aircraft?

How many of our people understood when they endorsed the present administration with its reciprocal trade agreements that they were endorsing a policy of destruction for American industry?

Did the average citizen condemn Mr. C.

Roosevelt by action when he borrowed 18 billions of dollars from the bankers at a high rate of interest, which debt has to be paid back by the future generation? And why does the government have to borrow from the banks when it has so much gold?

Why, may I ask, didn't the people voice their objection to the government taking money from their envelope before they had even received it? This is nothing but the employee paying for the opportunity to work, and the employer paying for the privilege of hiring.

How many of our good people have objected to the Roosevelt Court Packing plan? Opposition by Congressmen is little because they do not think you care. Let them know. This bill is an open violation of the ethics of Washington, a brutal disregard for the will of the people, and if passed, insures the completeness of the fall of democracy in America.

Another instance of neglect of public opinion was in the case of the recent Neutrality Act. How many people followed the vote and are aware that among the few Senators who dared fight this legislation was our own Senator, Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge? The uselessness of this bill lies in its failure to take the profit out of future wars.

To take the latest events pertaining to labor and use the same logic, I am bewildered when I ask, "where is public opinion?"

Here, under the guise of organizing labor, a man builds up a ruthless machine and openly forces our working man to pay for the protection of his job, and gravest of all, is the action of the President in supporting this dictator.

Yes, you and I may well ask, "where are those real red-blooded lovers of liberty of whom our Nation was once proud?"

Two Accidents Here on Sunday

Sunday motorists had two accidents in Andover last Sunday, neither of them fortunately being very serious.

Sunday morning a car tipped over on Argilla road when it failed to negotiate a curve. The driver and a passenger received bruises and abrasions while another passenger escaped injury. All were Lawrence men.

On Sunday afternoon two women received minor injuries when the car in which they were riding was hit in the rear by another car at the lights at Chestnut and Main streets. The driver and a passenger both of Lawrence, were injured, the driver suffering an injury to her side and the passenger being badly shaken up and requiring doctor's care. An Everett car crashed into the Lawrence car.

Choir Auxiliary to Conduct Party

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Andover Male Choir will hold a dessert bridge party on the lawn of Mrs. J. Everett Collins, 35 Summer street, Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. Mrs. Herbert Merrick is chairman assisted by Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Leverett Putnam, Mrs. Paul Robbins, Mrs. Alfred Greenfield, Mrs. Carl Wetterberg, Mrs. James P. Christie, Mrs. Edward Rowbottom, Mrs. David Coutts, Mrs. Frank Kellett, Miss Marion Abbott and Mrs. Clinton H. Stevens.

This auxiliary was formed about a year ago for the purpose of lending aid socially and financially to the Andover Male Choir. Throughout the year this group has held several bridge parties and served refreshments for the choir and its guests on several occasions. Nearly one hundred dollars have been earned and it is hoped that this amount will be substantially increased so that a generous amount may be added to the nucleus which the Male Choir has set aside for some really worthwhile musical contribution to the town. ## League Leaders Play Here Tonight

The East Lynn team, undefeated leaders in the Junior Legion league, will play the Andover team here this evening. The local outfit is among the leaders in the league standing at present.

North Andover's Junior Legion team, getting away to an early first-inning lead, was overtaken and defeated by a fighting

Andover Junior Legion team in a Booster's day game at the playstead on Sunday afternoon. North Andover made two runs in the first inning on two passes and two hits. Andover made it two to one in the first when Walker who walked scored on Howe's single.

In the fourth Noyes tied the game up when after he reached on a walk he made third on a sacrifice and scored on a first base muff. A two-run lead was piled up in the sixth on a pass and singled by Barrett, Walker and Spinney. After North Andover brought it to 4-3 in the seventh a single, a sacrifice and an error gave Andover one more run in the eighth.

The Local Legion Junior team bumped against disaster last Friday evening when the Lynn Legion Juniors inflicted a 7-0 defeat on the local boys at the playstead. A bad second and a bad fourth inning accounted for the defeat, with Lynn scoring four in the second and adding three in the fourth. Andover made but three hits, White, Walker and Howe connecting for singles.

Two Teachers Become Brides

Two grammar school teachers were brides over the week-end, Miss Eleanor Ward marrying Almon Daniels of Wilmington on Saturday and Miss Etta Larkin becoming Mrs. Leslie Seymour Bowker on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Daniels, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Ward of Argilla road, has been serving as a cadet teacher in the fifth grade at the central grammar schools for the past two years, and Mrs. Bowker, daughter of Mrs. Walter A. Larkin of Chapman court has been teaching the first grade at the Samuel Jackson school since early 1935. Both the positions have been filled for next year by the school committee.

Mr. Daniels is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Daniels of Holliston. He is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire, class of 1931, and he is now engaged in poultry-farming in Wilmington, also being employed at the Tyer Rubber Company. Rev. A. A. Simmons of the North Wilmington Congregational church officiated at the ceremony which took place at the home of the bridegroom's brother in Wilmington.

Miss Mary Ward, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Leo Shiebler was best man.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, following the ceremony. They will reside on Ballardvale street, North Wilmington.

The bride graduated from Lowell state teachers' college in 1935 and was one of the first two girls to be appointed to the local teaching staff under the cadet plan.

Rev. Edwin Disbrow performed the Bowker-Larkin ceremony at the home of the bride's mother on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Charles Pratt, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and the best man was Oscar Bowker of Bridgewater, brother of the bridegroom. Eldred Larkin, of Reading, brother of the bride, gave her in marriage, and Mrs. Larkin played the wedding music.

The bride wore a gown of white satin en train with a finger-tip veil, and she carried white roses. Mrs. Pratt was gown in green organdie and she carried yellow roses.

A reception followed at the home, which was decorated with palms and cut flowers. The couple later left on a wedding trip to Newfoundlake, and they will reside in Bridgewater.

The bride graduated from Puncture in 1929 and from Bridgewater state teachers' college in 1932. She taught at Rehoboth prior to coming to Andover. Mr. Bowker is in the electrical business in Bridgewater.

Transfer Money in Reserve Fund

A transfer of $200 from the reserve fund was authorized on Monday night by the finance committee in order to meet the clerical expenses of the new town employees' pension plan. The money will be used for the purchase of record books, files, etc.

Town accountant Miss Mary Collins, acting in an ex officio capacity, and Edmond E. Hammond, have been named to the board which will supervise the plan here. One more member is yet to be appointed, he to be named from the employees who accept the plan.

The finance committee was the 1936-37 group, the new board not yet having been appointed. A request from the selectmen for a transfer for old age assistance was not acted upon, since the group felt that the new board should decide on this matter.

Knew Her Proverbs

Little Betty, watching the farmhands spreading out a stack of hay to dry, could contain her curiosity no longer, so she politely asked:

"Is it a needle you're looking for?"
